History OF THE BLACKSOX

The Burkburnett Blacksox, established in 1976, stand as a premier college preparatory baseball program with a 48-year history of guiding high school players toward college and professional careers. This organization offers teams at various age levels, focusing on the holistic development of its players into skilled athletes and responsible young men.

Mickey Cornelius has been a cornerstone of the Blacksox for over four decades, contributing significantly to its enduring success. In a pivotal transition last year, Mickey entrusted many of his responsibilities to Trey Bigford, a former Blacksox player who rose through the ranks due to his exceptional talent and dedication, eventually leading to his appointment as program director. Mickey frequently acknowledged Trey's early advancement as a testament to his commitment.

Trey's baseball journey extended through collegiate and professional levels, including advanced training in California, providing him with extensive knowledge and a forward-thinking vision for the Blacksox. Since becoming director, Trey has already enhanced the program's reputation and fostered young talent, with ambitions to broaden its reach and provide future players with crucial resources and opportunities. The program is poised for continued success under Trey's direction, supported by Mickey's experience.

The mentorship between Mickey and Trey highlights the profound impact of dedicated leadership on the Blacksox program's enduring success. Their combined efforts are vital in steering the organization toward a promising future, ensuring its legacy of excellence persists.

From its modest start in 1976 with an $800 budget, the Blacksox organization has grown remarkably. Today, it operates with an annual budget exceeding $350,000 and boasts a state-of-the-art workout facility and a fully-furnished dormitory for players and assistant coaches. The program has a strong track record, with over 900 alumni advancing to college baseball, securing approximately $3.7 million in scholarships. Notably, at least 67 alumni have been drafted by major league organizations, and around three dozen have played or are currently active in professional baseball.

The Blacksox tradition remains vibrant in 2024, emphasizing the development of well-rounded individuals. The 2022 season was particularly successful, with the 18U team achieving over 40 wins and all graduating players receiving college offers. As the organization prepares for the 2024 season, it aims to build upon these achievements and continue providing valuable opportunities for young athletes.

The Gomez Workout Facility

For the 2001 season, the Blacksox opened a new addition to the program. The Gomez Workout Facility opened its doors, neighboring the Blacksox Dorm. This 7,000 square foot, state-of-the-art workout facility provides the Blacksox players with amenities greater than most college and professional teams in America.

The facility was graciously donated to the Blacksox by the parents of a former player, Mr. and Mrs. Raul and Jymme Gomez. Their gift to the Blacksox is one that benefits not only the team's players, but also youth from any age.

The Gomez facility houses two batting tunnels with pitching machines, a pitching tunnel, a weight room, player dorm, coaches bedroom, kitchen, game room, showers, and a large living area so players can analyze their workout sessions.

In addition to its use by the Blacksox, the facility provides housing for visiting teams during high school and summer sessions. Also, the Gomez Facility can be used by groups and teams who wish to have workout sessions in the facility. The Gomez has even been used to host wedding parties, and was the site of a corporation's Christmas party.

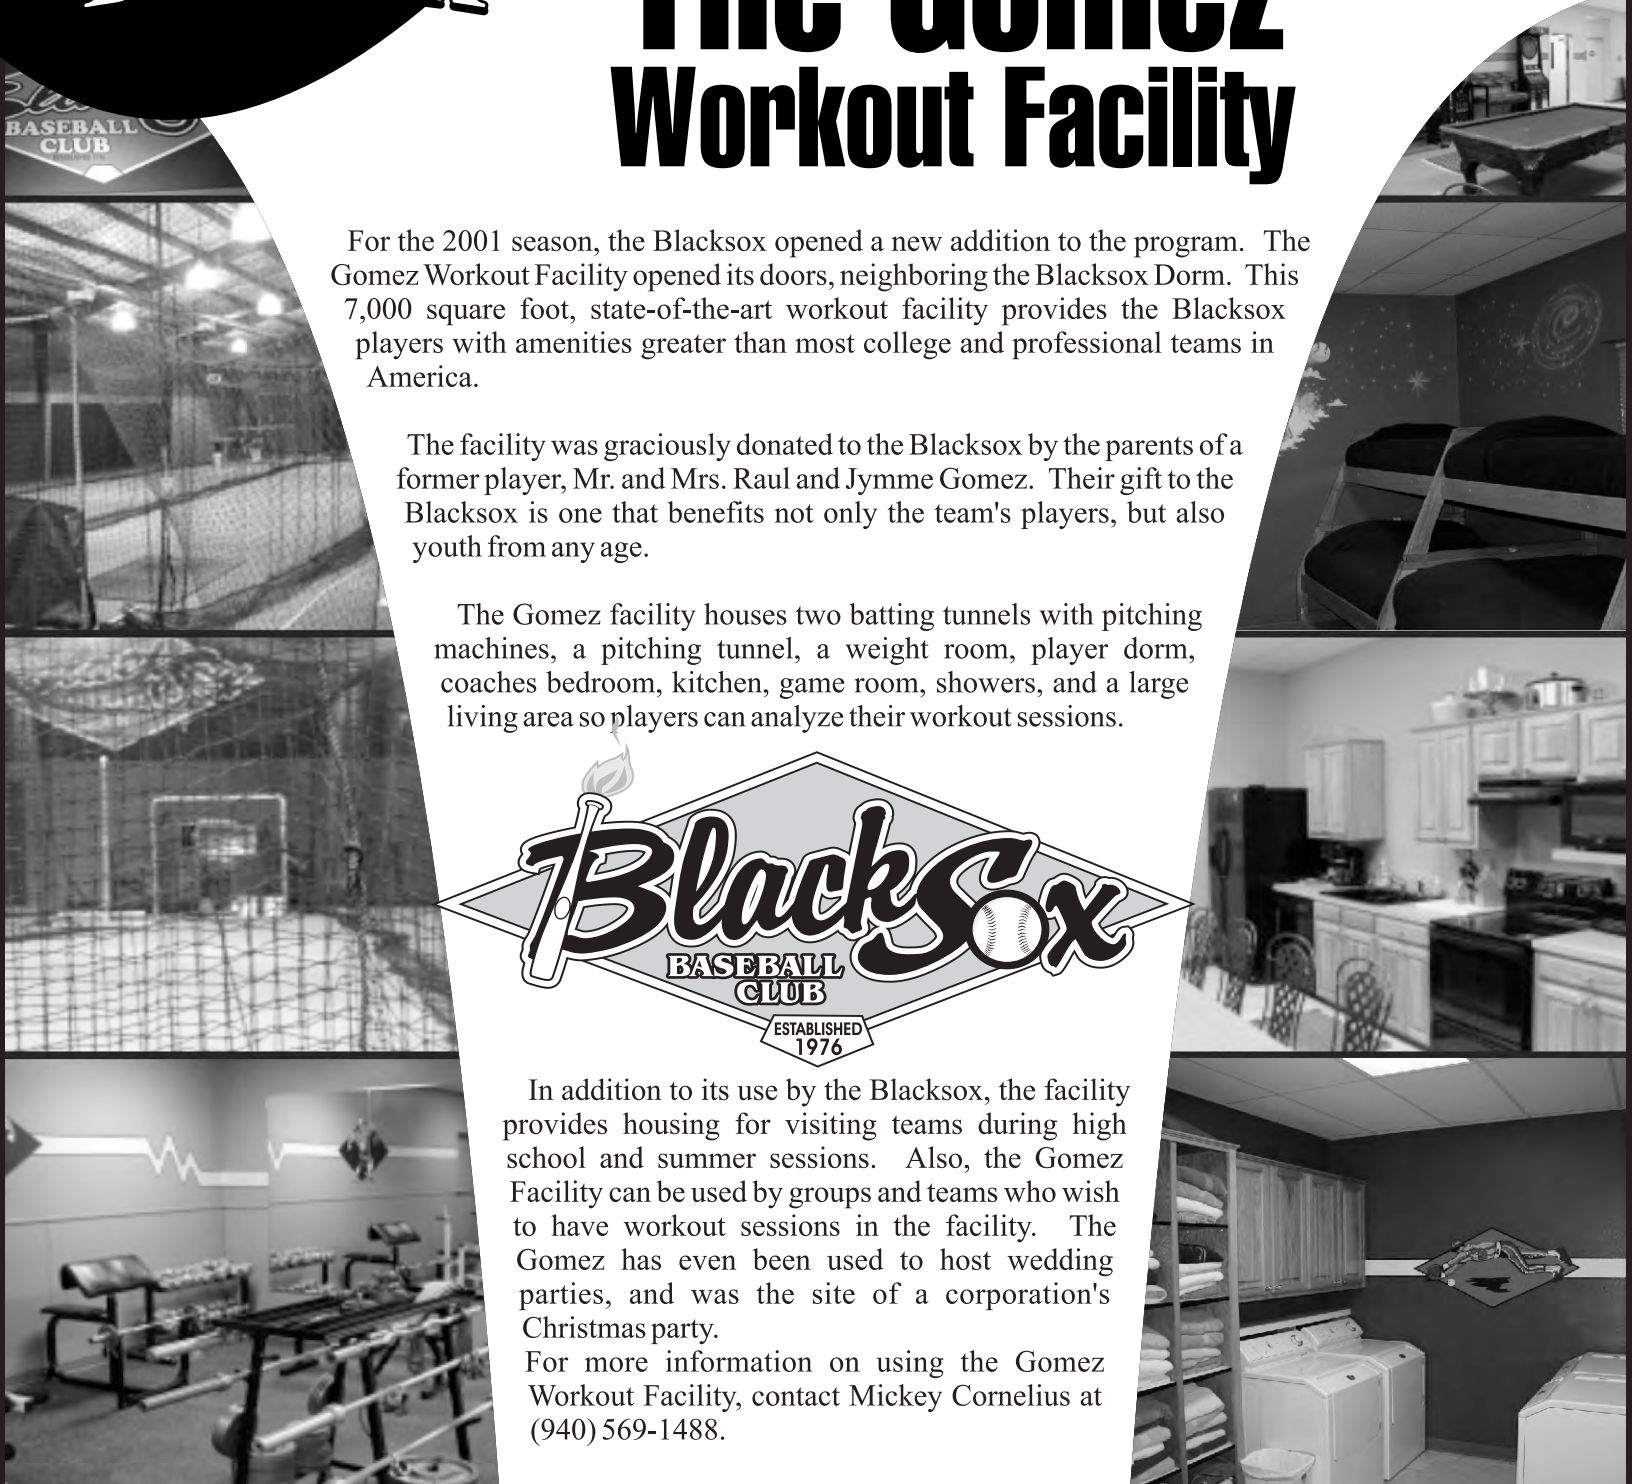

For more information on using the Gomez Workout Facility, contact Mickey Cornelius at (940) 569-1488.

A few years ago, the Blacksox organization obtained a 1,800 square-foot building in Burk Burnett when it became available for purchase from the local Sertoma Club. It was remodeled to include a full kitchen, walk-in showers and sleeping quarters for 20 players and a coach. The dormitory also has a large living room for visits from the family and friends of players.

The Blacksox were proud to dedicate the facility to the memory of Monte Schenk, who played for the Blacksox and Titans for three seasons and was tragically taken from us in an auto accident.

Zac R. Henderson

Coach Zac R. Henderson had three passions in life: his teams, his community, and golf. A graduate of Quanah High School, Zac enlisted in the army to serve this country for three years in WWII in the 168th Anti-Aircraft Artillery, putting him in that elite class of The Greatest Generation.

Following the war, Henderson played football at Texas Tech then earned a teaching degree at TCU and Masters at LSU. In 1950 he began his coaching career and married his sweetheart for life, Auline. In 1962, Zac permanently moved his family to Burkburnett to become the head football coach and Athletic Director of the Bulldogs.

Coach Henderson's advice to his students to be winners was never limited to the playing field. Some of his favorite saying were, "Winners never quit. We may not always be first, but we are all champions. Remember when you leave the playing field, the friendships you make and the lessons you learn make you who you are."

As Blacksox General Manager Mickey Cornelius will attest, it was Coach Henderson's custom to make the rounds each morning having coffee at local businesses including Cornelius Insurance. Oftentimes in the course of conversation a community need came up, and a few days later, Zac would show up at the right office, checkbook in hand. Several of those checks went towards the birth of a college prep baseball team, which would become the Blacksox. Ever wonder how the Blacksox home field got its name? Around 1987, over coffee, Henderson learned that the Burkburnett High School baseball field needed lights to comply with a new UIL ruling. Coach Henderson stepped up to the plate to make it happen. He was a high school football coach with a generous heart, especially toward his teams and his community, but what Coach Zac Henderson loved above all was his family.

"We hope the Zac R. Henderson Memorial Tournament becomes a part of your family's baseball story, and in the spirit of our dad and his love of the game, we say to all of you, "Put me in, Coach, I'm ready to play!"

We love you, Dad

With a remarkable 41 years on the roster, Mickey has been the steady hand and fiery spirit driving this program through four decades of wins, memories, and milestones. As we round third and head into our 49th season, the Blacksox remain strong under Mickey's leadership, now fielding four high school teams and a youth squad. With unmatched experience and a deep love for the game, Mickey keeps swinging for the fences — staying true to the Blacksox values of excellence, teamwork, and community.

DIANE BIGFORD

In her 23rd season as Administrative Assistant, Diane brings the heart of baseball to everything she does. Her passion for the game and dedication to the organization make her an all-star in the office and beyond. Off the field, she's the proud mom of Trey, Kody, and Halie, but don't be surprised if you still spot her at the ballpark — because when Diane's not at her desk, she's in the ballpark, living the game she loves.

After graduating in 2015, Trey continued to excel in baseball, playing for a number of collegiate and professional teams. # THE LEGACY AND FUTURE OF THE BURKBURNETT BLACKSOX

The Burk Burnett Blacksox have a rich history of excellence and dedication, shaped significantly by the contributions of Mickey Cornelius and Trey Bigford. Last year marked a pivotal moment for the Blacksox with Trey Bigford being appointed as the director of the program. Trey's association with the Blacksox began at a young age, quickly moving up to the 16U team due to his outstanding abilities. His early promotion, as Mickey often highlighted, was a testament to his exceptional talent and dedication.

Trey's baseball journey continued through college and professional play, where he traveled extensively, constantly seeking to improve his skills. His commitment to personal and professional growth led him to advanced training opportunities in California, further honing his abilities. These experiences have equipped Trey with a deep understanding of the game and a vision for the future of the Blacksox.

In his role as director, Trey has already made significant strides, enhancing the program's reputation and developing young talent. He is focused on expanding the program's reach, ensuring that future generations of players have access to the resources and opportunities necessary for success. With Mickey's continued support and Trey's innovative vision, the Blacksox are well-positioned to build on their legacy and achieve new heights.

The combined efforts of Mickey Cornelius and Trey Bigford are crucial in guiding the Blacksox toward a bright future, ensuring that the program's legacy of excellence and dedication endures for years to come. Their journey together underscores the power of mentorship and the enduring impact of committed leadership on the success and longevity of the Blacksox baseball program.
